Crossing the Bridge

Opening in spring 2026, the Gordie Howe International Bridge will redefine how people move between Windsor Essex and Detroit. As the newest international crossing between Canada and the U.S., the bridge will welcome vehicular traffic, cyclists and pedestrians, creating a seamless, modern gateway that strengthens cross-border travel, trade and tourism.

For cyclists, runners and walkers, the bridge is a game changer. A dedicated multi-use path will connect local cycling routes on both sides of the border and be the first bridge ever to connect directly with the Trans Canada Trail and Great Lakes Waterfront Trail, unlocking new cross-border adventures and making Windsor Essex a true hub for international cycle tourism. The best part? Access to the multi-use path is FREE! Whether you're riding, strolling or simply taking in the views, the Gordie Howe International Bridge offers a bold new way to experience the region—one that quite literally brings two countries closer together.

Using the Multi-Use Path by Bike and by Foot

- The multi-use path is FREE for pedestrians and cyclists
- All users must present appropriate documentation to border agencies to enter each country or return to their home country. Any baggage, gear or equipment is subject to inspection.
- You must clear customs when using the path in a Customs processing plaza separate from vehicular traffic
- Safety measures include separated lanes from traffic, means-restriction fencing, cameras and emergency call buttons
